

The Scientific Philosophy and Philosophy of Science (Part 3)

Victor, Kuligin and Galina, Kuligina and Maria, Korneva (2001) The Scientific Philosophy and Philosophy of Science (Part 3).

Full text available as:

Microsoft Word - Requires a viewer, such as Microsoft Word Viewer

Abstract

The problem of causality is considered. It is shown that two models of the causality exist. These are dialectic model and evolutionary model. The interrelation between models is considered. It is shown that the instantaneous interaction does not contradict causality.

Keywords: causality, evolutionary model, dialectic model, cause and effect, instantaneous interactions

Subjects: General Issues: Formal Learning Theory

ID Code: 1138

Deposited By: Victor, kuligin

Deposited On: 15 April 2003