

NetEc

mirrored in welcomes you

This server is located at the Department of Economics at Washington University in St. Louis. For those in Europe we provide a server at Manchester Computing. A Japanese server is available at Hi totsubashi University.

Founded in 1993, NetEc is an international academic effort to improve the communication of Economics via electronic media. It consists of:

- Information on printed working papers on BibEc,
 - Data about electronic working papers on WoPEc,
 - World Wide Web resources in Economics on WebEc,
 - Jokes about economists and economics on JokEc.
- All datasets can be queried in a common SEARCH system.

Consult the NetEc documentation for further information. If anything is not working properly, please notify "NetEc@netec.mcc.ac.uk" at once.

Projects that are sponsored by NetEc are

- RePEc, a large distributed catalogue of economics papers
- RePEc author service, a service to register and search for authors within RePEc. Please register if you are an author of a paper in RePEc.
- NEP, a series of reports on new additions to RePEc

Other projects that are associated with NetEc

- "Resources for Economists on the Internet" sponsored by the American Economic Association, editor Bill Goffe
- EDIRC \("Economics Departments, Institutes and Research Centres in the World"\) by Christian Zimmermann

These sites can also be queried on the NetEc search system.

Thomas Krichel