About the Review

The Review was founded in 1933 by a group of young British and American Economists. It is published quarterly by The Review of Economic Studies Ltd, whose object is to encourage applied economics, especially by young economists, and to publish the results in the Journal.

The Review of Economic Studies is essential reading for economists. It is one of the core economics journals, consistently ranking among the top five titles.

Turnaround statistics for first-round (new) submissions:

Period	March - September 2008

Median decision time	103 days
Percentage of decisions > 7 months (210 days)	9

This table is derived from a more detailed breakdown of turnaround averages which includes all submissions stages and total papers received.

Review of the Review

The Directors of the Review of Economic Studies asked some senior members of the editorial board to provide a descriptive overview of the publishing record of the journal in context (American Economic Review, Econometrica, Quarterly Journal of Economics and Journal of Political Economy).

The report sheds light on trends in publications, focusing on:

- the mix of fields of published papers;
- the citations to published papers;
- the academic age of authors.
