Students from the Centre for Performing Arts at the University of the West of England will perform the epic production The Life and Adventures of Nicholas Nickleby at the Olympus Theatre, Filton from 15 -17 March at 19.30 with a matinee on Saturday 17 March at 14.30.

Based on Charles Dickens' novel, the production dramatises the adventures of Nicholas and his sister Kate as they meet the vicious schoolmaster Squeers, the exquisite Manaralnis and the colourful theatrical company of Vincent Crummies.

The company of 30 actors portray a staggering 112 different characters in a spectacular and colourful production that promises to amuse, delight and touch the hearts of the audience. The play is directed by Steve Titchmarsh in his first production with UWE. Steve is the Course Leader for the HND in Actin
