Founded in early 2000 the PAP is a non-profit, non-political, scientific, and professional association established for individuals and organizations interested in population and development in the Pakistani context.

Membership of the Association is broad-based and is open for professionals interested and involved in population studies and related action program. Its current membership comprises demographers, sociologists, statisticians, reproductive health experts, environmentalists, economists, geographers, public health personnel, social worker, and other.

The objective of the Association is to promote and strengthen the disciplines of population by providing forum to subject experts, facilitating their professional development, sharing scientific knowledge in population, and sharing experiences in the different disciplines of population.

PAP is governed by its Executive Council through elections, held during the 11th Conference on "Population Growth, Urbanization, Poverty and Social Exclusion" in Multan from November 25 – 27, 2010.
