ABSTRACT

July 2009, Vol. 132, No. 7

A portrait of the youth labor market in 13 countries, 1980鈥?007

Gary Martin Economist, Division of International Labor Comparisons, Bureau of Labor Statistics. E-mail: ILChelp@bls.gov

A relatively high unemployment rate for young people has been a persistent problem in industrialized countries in recent decades; still, the number of youths who are unemployed has been falling with declining youth populations and more years spent in education.
