

Career development program for women who were victim of domestic violence

Ovasapyan, Emilia

URI: <http://hdl.handle.net/10211.2/1551>

Date: 2012-06-22

Abstract:

The Career program is created to assist professional career counselors to help women who were victim of domestic violence transition to the workplace by providing them with resources and skills needed to make their career transition. Battered woman have many challenges ahead of them as they walk away from their abusive relationship out into a new world, where some are not fully familiar with what that involves. The goal of this project is to identify specific needs and problems related to battered women. This program presents a series of counseling sessions that will assist the participants through their career exploration process. The purpose of this project is to highlight some of the their characteristics and problems the target population encountered and provide guidelines and training for those who want to further gain their independence and pursue their career goals.

Description:

Includes bibliographical references (pages 65-67)

Show full item record

Files in this item

	Name: FinalGraduateProject.pdf	• Download
	Size: 1.178Mb
	Format: PDF

This item appears in the following Collection(s)

- Electronic Theses & Dissertations \(ETDs\) \(2011-\) [1194]
Collection of theses and dissertations written by CSUN students.
- Educational Psychology and Counseling Master's Thesis Collection [199]
Collection of theses written by CSUN Educational Psychology and Counseling department students

Search

Search
This Collection

My Account

Login
Register

RSS Feeds

RSS 1.0
RSS 2.0
Atom

