

Rural Education Action Program

Chinese 中文
English 英文

About REAP

Theme Areas

Publications

Policy Impact

Multimedia

Helping China's Rural Poor Harvest Their Dreams...

Children in rural China face many barriers in gaining a proper education. The ultimate goal of the Rural Education Action Program (REAP) is to help poor students in rural China overcome these obstacles and harvest their educational dreams.

To accomplish this goal, REAP conducts real world, experiment-based research that shapes policies for improving the accessibility and quality of rural education in China.

Recent News

Caixin Column 1: Why We Need to Worry About Inequality

Chinese Education Reimagined: REAP co-director Scott Rozelle's Interview with Center for Education Innovations

REAP-China Director Discusses China's First Policy Document for 2013

More >

Rural Education Action Program, Encina Hall, 616 Serra Street, Stanford, CA 94305-6055. Tel: (650) 724-3920

© Stanford University. All Rights Reserved. (650) 723-2300. Terms of Use | Copyright Complaints | RSS/XML Feeds | Feedback