Submissions may offer any of the following:

- (i) theme session; (ii) paper presentation; (iii) poster presentation;
- (iv) paper or poster presentation

We have a page available here offering advice for submission.

In addition to papers, posters and/or theme sessions dealing with more general areas of cognitive linguistics research, we are particularly interested in research that applies cognitive linguistics methodologies to specific language contexts (e.g., classroom, law, etc.).

Procedural TimeTable:

October, 2006 First Call for papers, posters & theme sessions
8th January, 2007 Deadline for Theme sessions
5th February, 2007 Deadline for paper & poster submissions
April, 2007 Notice of acceptance; Registrations open,
27 - 30th Aug, 2007 NDCL-2 Conference
14th January, 2008 Submission of papers for possible publication

Please see our provisional timetable (Adobe PDF).

Talks are scheduled in 30 minute slots: 20 minutes presentation, 5 minutes for discussion and 5 minutes to change sessions and/or change speakers. We anticipate 3 - 4 parallel sessions of regular papers, plus plenary lectures.

Abstracts:

Abstracts (with the heading "NDCL-2") need to be no more than 1 A4 page in length (excluding references), minimum size 12 font; and must be submitted in PDF format to the conference contact email address. Authors may submit more than 1 abstract though (in all likelihood) only 1 paper will be accepted.

Publication Plans:

Two volumes are anticipated: 1 devoted to papers dealing with the theme: Cognitive Linguistics, Applied; and the other devoted to a cross-section of the papers offered at this conference. Papers to be considered for these publications will need to be submitted to the editors by 14th January, 2008.
