

Main body of the document containing various symbols, text, and a table of contents at the bottom.

Table of contents listing document sections and their corresponding page numbers.

Microsoft Word document footer area.