

Microsoft Word document content, including metadata and header information.

Table with columns for page numbers (e.g., page 130, 131, 132) and corresponding page content or metadata.

Table with multiple columns containing mathematical symbols, Greek letters, and alphanumeric codes. The content is highly technical and appears to be a reference or index for mathematical concepts.

Microsoft Word document content with a header, a large table of data, and a footer. The table contains multiple columns of numerical and text data, including a list of names and dates. The footer includes the Microsoft Word logo and version information.