

26-30 May 2019

Makuhari Messe, Chiba, Japan

Session Proposal Period Extended

3 September 2018, 2:00 P.M. JST – 15 October 2018, 5:00 P.M. JST

JpGU has been experiencing technical issues with the linkage between the JpGU and AGU systems since 1 October. Due to this problem, AGU members who are trying to create a JpGU ID using their AGU account are unable to proceed.

JpGU is working with AGU on this issue, however since we have been unable to fully resolve this problem (as of 12 p.m. on 11 October JST), JpGU is extending the session proposal deadline until 5:00 p.m. JST on Monday, 15 October.

As a JpGU ID is required to propose a session or to be listed as a co-convenor, JpGU is requesting that session convenors who encounter this problem please provide the JpGU office with the following information:

If you are a main convenor and your co-convenor is unable to acquire the ID (using their AGU account), please enter the name, email address and affiliation of the co-convenor in “10. Others”, the field to enter a communication to JpGU Office on the session proposal system (<https://www.member-jpgu.org/proposal/>). Also, please include a brief description such as “AGU member with ID problem”.

If you are a main convenor who wish to propose a session, please download the file (http://www.jpgu.org/meeting_e2019/files/session_items.docx) from the following URL, fill in and send it to JpGU Office (office@jpgu.org (<mailto:office@jpgu.org>)).

Important Notes:

The maximum number of co-convenors is 3.

Convenors who have already completed the proposal are also able to do the action describe above by the new deadline (15 October).

This only applies to co-convenors who have a problem in newly acquiring an ID using their AGU account.

JpGU Members and Nonmember ID creation system is working normally. Co-convenors who will acquire these IDs should create the ID by themselves.
