Welcome to Asian Agri-History Foundation

A non – profit trust was established and registered in Secunderabad, India in 1994 with major objectives to unearth original documents that contained information on ancient and medieval agriculture of Asia and disseminate such information worldwide.

The AAHF was established by a group of internationally well-known agricultural scientists. Finances were raised with personal contributions of trustees and agriculture is now enriched with hitherto little known contributions made by Indian scholars and farmers through millennia.

Asian Agri-History is an International Journal of History of Asian Agriculture including Environment published every quarter
