Emerging superstar Lisa Corrigan produced a show stopping run on Friday night streaking the field at the 2007 University of Queensland Milers Meet in the elite women's division.

Corrigan proved too good for her competitors winning by more than a length of the straight to finish in a remarkable time of four minutes 30.16 seconds, less than eight seconds shy of her own Australian

Corrigan is Australia's fastest woman over a mile (1609m), was a 2006 Commonwealth Games finalist in the 1500m and is the current national champion over the distance.

Stealing the show from the elite men's race that followed her event, Corrigan's performance drew a rousing cheer from the crowd at the UQ Athletics Centre.

In the men's mile, New South Wales runner Jeremy Roff narrowly missed out on an illustrious sub four minute run, finishing in a time of four minutes 1.42 seconds.

Roff piped last year's winner Yousef Abdi who finished in four minutes 2.19 seconds and Brad Woods who crossed the line a second later in third position.
