

My Account

- Create New Account
- Login

Conference Menu

- Conference Home
- Call for Papers
- Program Committee
- Submit Paper
- Submit Tutorial
- Propose Panel Session
- Propose Special Session
- Registration Fees
- Sponsorship
- Formatting Instructions
- Reviewers Only

Main Menu

- Frontpage
- Upcoming Conferences
- Past Conferences
- Why Attend?
- Join Mailing List
- Proceedings
- Print page

 Search

advanced search

 Past Proceedings

The IASTED International Conference on Communication Systems, Networks and Applications
~ CSNA 2009 ~

October 12 – 14, 2009
Beijing, China

Sponsors

The International Association of Science and Technology for Development (IASTED)

- Technical Committee on Computers
- Technical Committee on Networks
- Technical Committee on Telecommunications
- Technical Committee on the Web, Internet, and Multimedia

World Modelling and Simulation Forum (WMSF)

Collaborating Organizations

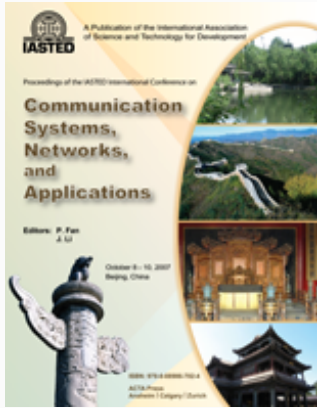

Tsinghua University, PR China

Location

Picture Above: Great Wall of China.
Banner Pictures from left to right: Imperial Gate, mainboard by Paul Pasiieczny, Tsinghua University Assembly Hall, Satellite Dish by Gerard Eviston, Shenzhou 7 Return Module. Some Photos have Some Rights Reserved.

~CSNA 2007~

Beijing, capital of the People's Republic of China, a modern metropolis with the charm of the ancient East, is the nation's political and cultural centre. The metropolis is home to more than 13 million permanent and visiting residents. The city offers visitors a moderate, continental climate. The city itself is both ancient and modern. Beijing has existed as a city for more than 3,000 years. Home to six UNESCO recognised world heritage sites, visitors may take in the historic beauty of attractions such as The Forbidden City, The Great Wall of China, and the Peking Man site at Zhoukoudian. Looking to the future, Beijing recently hosted the hugely successful twenty ninth Summer Olympics in August of 2008. Not to miss destinations and features include the Beijing Opera, the city's numerous cloisonné factories, and the famous Hutongs, which means "small lanes." Shopping in Beijing offers the visitor a real adventure. The city boasts a number of shopping districts including the Panjiayuan Curio & Antique Market and Liulichang Street. Shoppers are encouraged to bargain for what they want. Some even claim that haggling is the best part of a shopping trip. Boasting a wealthy and lengthy heritage unmatched in the world, Beijing nonetheless continues to modernise and is set to become one of the leading capitals of the twenty first century.

Important Deadlines

Submissions Due	May 22, 2009
Notification of Acceptance	June 22, 2009
Final Manuscripts Due	August 7, 2009
Registration Deadline	August 28, 2009

Technical Committee

If you are interested in joining the IASTED Technical Committee or any of the technical committees related to this conference, please submit your name, address, phone, fax, email, areas of speciality, a list of your most recent publications, and a brief CV by email to calgary@iasted.org.

Tell a Friend or Colleague

To send a link to this conference to a friend or colleague who would be interested, click here.

