

Main body of the document containing a dense grid of small text blocks, likely representing a list of items or a detailed report. The text is organized into columns and rows, with some larger headings or sections visible.

... (The page contains a dense grid of small text, likely a list of words or a technical document, with some larger text at the top and bottom.) ...

