The 6th WACBE World Congress on Bioengineering

Background: The World Association for Chinese Biomedical Engineers (WACBE) will hold its 6th WACBE World Congress on Bioengineering 2013 in Beijing, China, from 5 to 8 August 2013, hosted by Beihang University with supports from many other institutions and professional societies.

The Association organizes biannual World Congresses. The first congress was held at Taipei in December 2002; the second was held at Beijing in September 2004; the third was held at Bangkok in July 2007; the fourth was held at Hong Kong in July 2009, and the fifth was held at Tainan in August 2011. All the five congresses brought together many biomedical engineers from all over the world to share their experiences and to exchange views on the future development of biomedical engineering.
