

Exploring a wide range of issues in health policy and clinical practice improvement, including patient safety, healthcare financing, international health systems comparisons, the impact of government regulations, and the cost-effectiveness of medical interventions.

Search CHP/PCOR

Event Calendar

February 2010
S	M	T	W	T	F	S
	1	2	3	4	5	6
7	8	9	10	11	12	13
14	15	16	17	18	19	20
21	22	23	24	25	26	27
28

February 3, 2010
1:30 PM - 3:00 PM
"The days of our years are three score and ten" - Psalm 90
Research in Progress Seminar
Victor R. Fuchs; Clint Cummins; Mark R. Cullen

February 4, 2010
Paul Wise speaks at the Stanford Washington alumni club- The Struggle for Child Health and Protection in Areas of Intense Political Instability
Special Event
Paul H. Wise

February 10, 2010
Implementation of Evidence-Based Practices in Child Welfare
Research Seminar
Sarah (Sally) M. Horwitz

February 17, 2010
RIP Seminar with Mary Goldstein
Research Seminar

February 24, 2010
Research in Progress Seminar
Research in Progress Seminar
Eran Bendavid; Eric Leroux

March 3, 2010
Lessons for Comparative Effectiveness Study: The Example of Drug-Eluting Stents
Research in Progress Seminar
Cynthia A. Yock

» More events

Quick Links ...
Department of Medicine

School of Medicine

Fellowships

Scholarly Concentration in Health Services & Policy Research

Rosenkranz Prize for Health Care Research in Developing Countries

Follow us on Twitter

New Dr. George Rosenkranz Prize offers young Stanford researchers $100,000 for improving health care access

Non-tenured professors, postdocs and research associates focusing on how to improve health care access in developing countries are eligible to apply for a new $100,000 award, named for chemist George Rosenkranz, who lives in Menlo Park. Read more »

Fuchs publishes collection of articles on health reform

The Stanford Institute for Economic Research (SIEPR) has released a collection of core faculty Victor Fuchs' articles on achieving meaningful health reform in the United States. The group of articles were originally published by national health journals and include Fuchs' take on what steps the Obama Administration must take to create a sustainable health care system. A Collection of Articles on U.S. Health Reform includes a foreword by SIEPR director John Shoven.

In video core faculty Paul Wise discusses his field work in Guatemala

In a Stanford School of Medicine video, Stanford Health Policy core faculty Paul Wise explains his medical work in a rural Guatemala clinic. The short production features Wise and his students on the ground in the southwestern region of the country, and includes interviews with him and several Stanford students who have accompanied him on these trips. Over three decades, Wise has spent several weeks each year in the same poverty-stricken region of Guatemala providing basic health care.

» Watch the video: Paul Wise at work in Guatemala

support · subscribe · map & directions · contact · RSS/XML feeds