General Announcement and First Call for Papers

The IEEE International Conference on Commerce and Enterprise Computing (CEC) is the premier forum for researchers and practitioners to present and discuss the most recent innovations, trends, results, experiences and concerns in selected areas at the realm of the convergence between Business and Informatics. This convergence includes work in E-Commerce, Enterprise Computing, Technology-enabled Business Models and Transformation as well as specific Information Systems in Industries. The program of CEC 2012 will consist of invited talks, technical paper presentations, tutorials, industry sessions, workshops, and panel discussions representing both foundational contributions and applied research.

Topics:

We invite submissions of high quality papers describing fully developed results or on-going foundational and applied work on the following topics:

- Enterprise Architecture and Business Architecture
- Business Process Modelling, Architecture, Management and IT Implementation
- Information Systems Support for Service and Process Variation
- Business Transformation
- Information Technology-based Enterprise Transformation
- Commerce Technologies and Business Model Innovation
- eCommerce Applications in Specific Industries
- Social Business: Foundations and Industry Applications
- Security, Trust and Risk
- Information Technology support for Highly-Skilled Professional Services
- Science-Based Standards
- Human Computer Interaction
- Cloud Computing
- Information Technology for Monitoring and Managing Business Performance
- Service Systems and Service-Oriented Modeling
- Value Networks in Service Industries
