

EP'2017 Xi'an

August 8-11, 2017

The Eighth International Symposium on Engineering Plastics (EP'2017 Xi'an) will be held in Xi'an, Shaanxi Province, China August 8-11, 2017. Its topics will remain on polymeric materials, retaining its abbreviation EP as its logo actually over "engineering plastics" with continuous success, and keeping its tradition to act as a platform exchanging the recent progress, deep consideration and future development about polymeric materials. In addition to the basic topics for R&D of polymeric materials, this time the special focus will be on "Connecting chains from laboratory research to industrial production". In addition, a forum will be organized on "Contributing to polymer science: fundamental issues plus instrumental measurements". The organization committee cordially invites all of you, scientists, engineers and students involving in polymer synthesis, physics, processing and materials, to attend this symposium and have face to face discussion.

Scientific Topics

1. Connecting chains from laboratory research to industrial production
2. Contributing to polymer science: fundamental issues plus instrumental measurements
3. Synthesis path from catalyst to polymer
4. Emerging tools in macromolecular characterization
5. Polymer processing, complex fluids and rheology
6. Multi-phase, multi-component and multi-functional polymer systems
7. Advanced engineering plastics and thermosets
8. Polymers for biotechnology

Xi'an is the capital of Shaanxi Province, located in the northwest of China, in the center of the Guanzhong Plain. Xi'an is the oldest of the Four Great Ancient Capitals of China, having held the position under several of the most important dynasties in Chinese history, including Zhou, Qin, Han, Sui, and Tang. Xi'an is the starting point of the Silk Road and home to the Terracotta Army of Emperor Qin Shi Huang. Since the 1990s, as part of the economic revival of interior China especially for the central and northwest regions, the city of Xi'an has re-emerged as an important cultural, industrial and educational centre of the central-northwest region, with facilities for research and development, national security and China's space exploration program.
